The Chronicle Hiſtorie of Henry the fift: with his battell fought at Agin Court in France. Togither with Ancient Piſtoll.

Enter King Henry, Exeter, two Biſhops, Clarence, and other Attendants.

Exeter.

SHall I call in th'Ambaſſadors my Liege?

King. Not yet my couſin, till we be reſolu'd
Of ſome ſerious matters touching vs and France.

Byſh. God and his Angels guard your ſacred throne,
And make you long become it.

King. Sure we thanke you: and good my Lord proceed
Why the Law Salique which they haue in France,
Or ſhould or ſhould not ſtop in vs our claime:
And God forbid my wiſe and learned Lord,
That you ſhould faſhi on, frame, or wreſt the ſame.
For God doth know how many now in health,
Shall drop their blood, in approbation
Of what your reuerence ſhall incite vs too.
Therefore take heede how you impawne our perſon,
How you awake the ſleeping ſword of warre:
We charge you in the name of God take heede.
After this coniuration, ſpeake my Lord:
And we will iudge, note, and beleeue in heart,
That what you ſpeake, is waſht as pure
As ſin in baptiſme.

Bish. Then heare me gracious Soueraigne, & you Peeres,
Which owe your liues, your faith, and ſeruices
To this imperiall Throne:
There is no bar to ſtay your highneſſe claime to France,
But one; which they produce from Faramount:
No female ſhall ſucceed in Salique Land;
Which Salique Land, the French vniuſtly gloze,
To be the Realme of France,
And Faramount the founder of this law and female barre.
Yet their owne writers faithfully affirme,
That the Land Salique lyes in Germany,
Betweene the floods of Sabeck and of Elme,
Where Charles the fift hauing ſubdude the Saxons.
There left behinde, and ſetled certaine French,
Who holding in diſdaine the Germane women,
For ſome diſhoneſt manners of their liues,
Eſtabliſht there this Law. To wit,
No female ſhall ſucceed in Salique Land:
Which Salique land (as I haue ſayd before)
Is at this time in Germany, call'd Meſene.
Thus doth it well appeare, the Salique law
Was not deuiſed for the Realme of France:
Nor did the French poſſeſſe the Salique land,
Vntill foure hundred one and twenty yeares
After the function of King Faramount,
Godly ſuppoſd the founder of this Law.
Hugh Capet alſo that vſurpt the Crowne,
To fine his Title with ſome ſhew of truth,
When in pure truth it was corrupt and nought:
Conuey'd himſelfe as heire to the Lady Inger,
Daughter to Charles the foreſayd Duke of Lorain,
So that as cleere as is the ſummers Sun,
King Pipins Title, and Hugh Capets claime,
King Charles his ſatisfaction, all appeare
To hold in right and title of the female:
So do the Lords of France vntill this day,
Howbeit they would hold vp this Salique Law

To barre your highneſſe claiming from the female,
And rather chooſe to hide them in a net,
Then amply to embrace their crooked cauſes,
Vſurpt from you and your progenitors.
K. May we with right and conſcience make this claime?
Bi. The ſin vpon my head dread Soueraigne:
For in the booke of Numbers it is writ,
When the ſonne dyes, let the inheritance
Deſcend vnto the daughter.
Noble Lord, ſtand for your owne,
Vnwinde your bloody flagge,
Go my dread Lord to your great Grandfires graue,
From whom you claime:
And your great Vnckle Edward the blacke Prince,
Who on the French ground playd a Tragedy,
Making defeate on the full power of France,
Whilſt his moſt mighty father on a hill,
Stood ſmiling to behold his Lyons whelpe,
Foraging the blood of French Nobility.
O Noble Engliſh, that could entertaine
With halfe their forces the full power of France:
And let another halfe ſtand laughing by,
All out of worke, and colde for action.
King. We muſt not onely arme vs gainſt the French,
But lay downe our proportion for the Scot,
Who will make rode vpon vs with all aduantages.
Bi. The Marches gracious ſoueraigne, ſhalbe ſufficient
To guard your England from the pilfering borderers.
King. We do not meane the courſing ſneakers onely,
But feare the maine entendment of the Scot:
For you ſhall read, neuer my great Grandfather
Vnmaskt his power for France,
But that the Scot on his vnfurniſht kingdome,
Came pouring like the tide into a breach,
That England being empty of defences,
Hath ſhooke and trembled at the brute heereof.
Bish. She hath bin then more fear'd then hurt my Lord:

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

For heare her but examplified by her selfe,
When all her chiualry hath bene in France,
And she a mourning widdow of her Nobles,
She hath her selfe not onely well defended,
But taken and impounded (as a stray) the King of Scottes,
VVhom like a caytiffe she did leade to France,
Filling your Chronicles as rich with praise,
As is the owse and bottome of the sea,
VVith sunken wracke, and shipplesse treasurie.
Lord. There is a saying very old and true.
If you will France win,
Then with Scotland first begin:
For once the Eagle England being in pray,
To his vnfurnisht Nest the weazle Scot
VVould sucke her Egges,
Playing the Mouse in absence of the Cat,
To spoyle and hauocke more then she can eat.
Exe. It followes then, the Cat must stay at home,
Yet that is but a curst necessity,
Since we haue traps to catch the petty theeues:
VVhilst that the armed hand doth fight abroad,
The aduised head controlles at home:
For gouernment though high or low, being put in parts,
Congrueth with a mutuall consent like musicke.
Bish. True, therefore doth heauen
Diuide the fate of man in diuers functions:
VVhereto is added as an ayme or But, Obedience:
For so liue the hony bees, creatures that by awe
Ordaine an act of order to a peopled Kingdome.
They haue a King, and Officers of sort;
Where some like Magistrates correct at home:
Others, like Merchants venture Trade abroad:
Others, like soldiours armed in their stings,
Make boot vpon the summers Veluet bud:
VVhich pillage they with merry march bring home
To the Tent-royall of their Emperor;
Who busied in his maiesty, behold

The singing Masons building roofes of Gold,
The ciuill Citizens lading vp the hony,
The sad-ey'd Iustice with his surly humme,
Deliuering vp to executors pale, the lazie caning drone,
This I inferre, that twenty actions once a foote,
May all end in one moment.
As many arrowes losed seuerall wayes, fly to one marke:
As many seuerall wayes meete in one Towne:
As many fresh streames run in one selfe-sea:
As many lines close in the diall center:
So may a thousand actions once a foote,
End in one moment, and be all well born without defect.
Therefore my Liege to France,
Diuide your happy England into foure,
Of which take you one quarter into France,
And you withall, shall make all Gallia shake.
If we with thrice that power left at home,
Cannot defend our owne doore from the dogge.
Let vs be beaten, and from henceforth lose
The name of policy and hardinesse.
Kin. Call in the messenger sent from the Dolphin,
And by your ayde, the noble sinnewes of our Land,
France being ours, weel bring it to our awe,
Or breake it all in peeces:
Either our Chronicles shall with full mouth speake
Freely of our acts, or else like tongueleesse mutes,
Not worshipt with a paper Epitaph:
Enter the Ambassadors from France.
Now are we well prepard to know the Dolphins pleasure
For we heare your comming is from him.
Ambas. Pleaseth your Maiesty to giue vs leaue
Freely to render what we haue in charge,
Or shall I sparingly shew a farre off,
The Dolphins pleasure, and our Embassage?
King. We are no tyrant, but a Christian King,
To whom our spirit is as subiect,
As are our wretches fettered in our prisons.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Therefore freely, and with vncurbed boldneſſe
Tell vs the Dolphins minde.
Ambaſ. Then this in fine the Dolphin ſaith,
VVhereas you claime certaine Townes in France,
From your predeceſſor King Edward the third,
This he returnes :
He ſaith, there's nought in France,
That can be with a nimble Galliard wonne,
You cannot reuell into Dukedomes there :
Therefore he ſendeth meeter for your ſtudie
This tun of treaſure : and in lieu of this,
Deſires to let the Dukedomes that you craue
Heare no more from you. This the Dolphin ſaith.
King. VVhat treaſure Vnckle?
Exe. Tennis balles my Liege.
King. Wee are glad the Dolphin is ſo pleaſant with vs,
Your meſſage, and his preſent we accept.
When we haue matcht our Rackets to theſe balles,
We wil by Gods grace play him ſuch a ſet,
Shal ſtrike his fathers Crowne into the hazard.
Tell him he hath made a match with ſuch a wrangler,
That all the courts of France ſhalbe diſturbd with chaſes.
And we vnderſtand him well, how he comes ore vs
With our wilder daies,
Not meaſuring what vſe we made of them.
We neuer valew'd this poore ſeate of England,
And therefore gaue our ſelues to barbarous Licenſe,
As tis common ſeene,
That men are merrieſt when they are from home.
But tell the Dolphin we will keepe our ſtate,
Be like a King, mighty, and command,
When we do rowſe vs in the Throne of France.
For this we haue layd by our Maieſty,
And plodded like a man for working dayes.
But we will riſe therewith ſo full of glory,
That we will dazle all the eyes of France,
I ſtrike the Dolphin blinde to looke on vs.

And tell him this,
His mocke hath turn'd his balles to gun-ſtones,
And his ſoule ſhall ſit ſore charged, for the waſtfull
Vengeance that ſhall flye from them,
For this his mocke,
Shall mocke many a wife out of their deare husbands,
Mocke mothers from their ſonnes, mocke Caſtles down.
I, ſome are yet vngotten and vnborne,
That ſhall haue cauſe to curſe the Dolphins ſcorne.
But this lies all within the will of God,
To whom we do appeale : and in whoſe name,
Tell you the Dolphin we are comming on,
To venge vs as we may, and to put forth our hand
In a right cauſe : ſo get you hence, and tell your Prince,
His ieſt will ſauour but of ſhallow wit,
When thouſands weepe more then did laugh at it.
Conuey them with ſafe conduct; ſee them hence.
Exe. This was a merry meſſage.
King. We hope to make the ſender bluſh at it :
Therfore let our collection for the wars be ſoon prouided
For God before, weel check the Dolphin at his fathers
Doore : therefore let euery man now taske his thought,
That this faire action may on foote be brought.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Nim and Bardolfe.

Bar. Good morrow Corporall Nim.
Nim. Good morrow Lieutenant Bardolfe.
Bar. What, is Ancient Piſtoll and thee friends yet?
Nim. I cannot tell, things muſt be as they may :
I dare not fight, but I will winke and hold out mine Iron,
Tis a ſimple one, but what tho ; twil ſerue to toſte cheeſe,
And it will endure cold as another mans ſword will,
And theres the humour of it.
Bar. Ifaith Miſtreſſe Quickly did thee great wrong,
For thou wert troth-plight to her.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Nim. I must do as I may, tho patience be a tired mare,
Yet sheel plod, and some say knives haue edges,
And men may sleepe and haue their throates about them
At that time, and there's the humor of it.

Bar. Come ifaith, Ile bestow a breakfast to make Pistoll and thee friends. What a plague should we carry knives to cut our owne throates.

Nim. Ifaith ile liue as long as I may, that's the certaine of it. And when I cannot liue any longer, Ile do as I may,
And there's my rest, and the randeuous of it.

Enter Pistoll, and Hostes Quickly his wife.

Bar. Good morrow ancient Pistoll.
heere comes ancient Pistoll, I prethee Nim be quiet.

Nim. How do you my host?

Pist. Base slaue, callest thou me host?
Now by gads lugges I sweare, I scorne the title,
Nor shall my Nell keepe lodging.

Host. No by my troth not I,
For we cannot bed nor boord halfe a score gentlewomen
That liue honestly by the pricke of their needle,
But it is thought straight we keepe a bawdy-house.
O Lord, heere's Corporall Nim, now shall
We haue wilfull adultery and murther committed:
Good Corporall Nim shew the valour of a man,
And put vp your sword. Nim. Push.

Pist. What, dost thou push, thou prickeard cur of Iseland

Nim. Will you shog off? I would haue you solus.

Pist. Solus, egregious dog, that solus in thy throate,
And in thy lungs, and which is worse, within
Thy mesfull mouth, I do retort that solus
In thy bowels, and in thy law perdie; for I can talke,
And Pistols flashing fiery cocke is vp.

Nim. I am not Barbason, you cannot coniure me;
I haue an humor Pistoll to knocke you indifferently well,
And you fall foule with me Pistoll,
Ile scoure you with my Rapier in faire tearmes.

If you will walke off a little,
Ile pricke your guts a little in good termes,
And there's the humor of it.

Pist. O braggard vile, and damned furious wight,
The graue doth gape, and groaning death is neere,
Therefore exall. They draw.

Bar. Heare me, he that strikes the first blow,
Ile kill him, as I am a Souldier.

Pist. An oath of mickle might, and fury shall abate.

Nim. Ile cut your throat at one time or another
In faire termes: and there's the humor of it.

Pist. Couple gorge is the word, I thee defie agen;
A damned hound, thinkst thou my spouse to get?
No, to the powdering tub of infamy,
Fetch foorth the lazar kite of Cresides kinde,
Doll Tear-sheete, she by name, and her espowse
I haue, and I will hold, the quandom quickly,
For the onely she and Paco, there it is enough.

Enter the Boy.

Boy. Hostes, you must come straight to my Master,
And you host Pistoll.
Good Bardolfe put thy nose betweene the sheetes,
And do the office of a warning pan.

Host. By my troth hee'l yeeld the Crow a pudding one of these dayes.
Ile go to him, husband you'l come?

Bar. Come Pistoll be friends.
Nim, prethee be friends, and if thou wilt not,
Be enemies with me too.

Ni. I shal haue my eight shillings I won of you at betting

Pist. Base is the slaue that payes.

Ni. That now I will haue, and there's the humor of it.

Pist. As manhood shall compound. They draw.

Bar. He that strikes the first blow,
Ile kill him by this sword.

Pi. Sword is an oath, and oathes must haue their course.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Nim. I ſhall haue my eight ſhillings I wonne of you at betting.

Piſt. A noble ſhalt thou haue, and ready pay,
And liquor likewiſe will I giue to thee,
And friendſhip ſhall combinde our brotherhood,
Ile liue by Nim, as Nim ſhall liue by me:
Is not this iuſt? for I ſhall Sutler be
Vnto the Campe, and profit will accrue.

Nim. I ſhall haue my noble?

Piſt. In caſh moſt truely paid.

Nim. Why theres the humor of it.

Enter Hoſtes.

Hoſtes. As euer you came of men come in,
Sir Iohn, poore ſoule is ſo troubled
With a burning taſhan contigian feuer, tis wonderfull.

Piſt. Let vs condole the knight; for lamkins we wil liue.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Exeter and Gloſter.

Gloſt. Before God my Lord, his Grace is too bold to truſt theſe traytors.

Exe. They ſhall be apprehended by and by.

Gloſt. I but the man that was his bedfellow,
Whom he hath cloyed and graced with Princely fauors,
That he ſhould for a forreigne purſe, to ſell
His Soueraignes life to death and trechery.

Exe. O the Lord of Maſſham.

Enter the King and three Lords.

King. Now ſirs, the winde is faire, and we will aboord;
My Lord of Cambridge, and my Lord of Maſſham,
And you my gentle Knight, giue me your thoughts,
Do you not thinke the power we beare with vs,
Will make vs Conquerors in the field of France?

Maſſham. No doubt my Liege, if each man do his beſt.

Cam.

Cam. Neuer was Monarch better feared and loued then is your Maieſty.

Grey. Euen thoſe that were your fathers enemies
Haue ſteeped their gals in hony for your ſake.

King. We therefore haue great cauſe of thankfulneſſe,
And ſhall forget the office of our hands;
Accordíng to their cauſe and worthineſſe.

Maſ. So ſeruice ſhall with ſteeled ſinewes ſhine,
And labour ſhall refreſh it ſelfe with hope
To do your Grace inceſſant ſeruice.

King. Vnckle of Exeter, enlarge the man
Committed yeſterday, that raild againſt our perſon,
We conſider it was the heate of wine that ſet him on,
And on his more aduice we pardon him.

Maſ. That is mercy, but too much ſecurity;
Let him be puniſht Soueraigne,
Leaſt the example of him, breed more of ſuch a kinde.

King. O let vs yet be mercifull.

Cam. So may your highneſſe, and puniſh too.

Grey. You ſhew great mercy if you giue him life,
After the taſte of his correction.

King. Alaſſe, your too much care and loue of me,
Are heauy orifons againſt the poore wretch,
If little faults proceeding on diſtemper,
Should not be winked at,
How ſhould we ſtretch our eye, when capitall crimes,
Chewed, ſwallowed, and digeſted, appeare before vs;
Well yet enlarge the man, tho Cambridge and the reſt
In their deare loues, and tender preſeruation of our ſtate,
Would haue him puniſht.
Now to our French cauſes.
Who are the late Commiſſioners?

Cam. Me one my Lord,
Your highneſſe bad me aske for it to day.

Maſ. So did you me my Soueraigne.

Grey. And me my Lord.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

King. Then Richard Earle of Cambridge, there is yours.
There is yours, my Lord of Masham:
And sir Thomas Grey, knight of Northumberland,
This same is yours;
Reade them, and know we know your worthinesse.
Vnckle Exeter, I will aboord to night.
Why how now Gentlemen, why change you colour?
What see you in those papers,
That hath so chased your blood out of apparance?
Cam. I do confesse my fault, and do submit me
To your highnesse mercy.
Mash. To which we all appeale.
King. The mercy which was quit in vs but late,
By your owne reasons is fore-stald and done:
You must not dare for shame to aske for mercy,
For your owne conscience turne vpon your bosomes,
As dogs vpon their masters worrying them.
See you my Princes, and my Noble Peeres,
These english Monsters:
My Lord of Cambridge here,
You know how apt we were to grace him
In all things belonging to his honor;
And this vilde man hath for a few light crownes,
Lightly conspir'd and sworne vnto the practises of France,
To kill vs heere in Hampton. To the which,
This knight, no lesse in bounty bound to vs
Then Cambridge is, hath likewise sworne.
But oh, what shall I say to thee false man,
Thou cruell, ingratefull, and inhumane creature,
Thou that didst beare the key of all my counsell,
That knewst the very secrets of my heart,
That almost mightst haue coyn'd me into gold;
Wouldst thou haue practisde on me for thy vse?
Can it be possible, that out of thee
Should proceed one sparke that might annoy my finger?
Tis so strange, that tho the truth doth shew as grose

As blacke from white, mine eye will scarsely see it.
Their faults are open,
Arrest them to the answer of the law,
And God acquit them of their practises.
Exe. I arrest thee of high treason,
By the name of Richard, Earle of Cambridge.
I arrest thee of high treason,
By the name of Henry, Lord of Masham.
I arrest thee of high treason,
By the name of Thomas Grey,
Knight of Northumberland.
Mash. Our purposes God iustly hath discouered,
And I repent my fault more then my death,
Which I beseech your Maiesty forgiue,
Although my body pay the price of it.
King. God quit you in his mercy.
Heare your sentence.
You haue conspir'd against our royall Person,
Ioyned with an enemy proclaim'd and fixed.
And from his Coffers receiued the golden earnest of our death,
Touching our person we seeke no redresse,
But we our kingdomes safety must so tender,
Whose ruine you haue sought,
That to our lawes we do deliuer you.
Get you hence, poore miserable creatures to your death,
The taste whereof, God in his mercy giue you patience
To endure, and true repentance of all your deeds amisse:
Beare them hence.

Exit three Lords.

Now Lords to France: The enterprise whereof,
Shall be to you as vs, successiuely. (way,
Since God cut off this dangerous treason lurking in our
Cheerly to sea, the signes of war aduance;
No King of England, if not King of France.

Exit omnes.

Enter Nim, Piſtoll, Bardolfe, Hoſter, and a boy.

Hoſt. I prethee ſweet heart,
Let me bring thee ſo farre as Staines.
Piſt. No fur, no fur.
Bar. Well, ſir Iohn is gone, God be with him.
Hoſt. I, he is in Arthors boſome, if euer any were,
He went away as if it were a cryſombd childe,
Betweene twelue and one,
Iuſt at turning of the tide;
His noſe was as ſharpe as a pen;
For when I ſaw him fumble with the ſheets,
And talke of flowers, and ſmile vpon his fingers ends,
I knew there was no way but one.
How now ſir Iohn, quoth I?
And he cryed three times, God, God, God,
Now I to comfort him, bad him not thinke of God,
I hope there was no ſuch need.
Then he bad me put more cloathes on his feete,
And I felt to them, and they were as cold as any ſtone,
And to his knees, and they were as cold as any ſtone.
And ſo vpward, & vpward, and all was as cold as ſtone.
Nim. They ſay he cride out on Sacke.
Hoſt. I that he did.
Boy. And of women.
Hoſt. No that he did not.
Boy. Yes that he did, & ſed they were diuels incarnate.
Hoſt. Indeed carnation was a colour he neuer loued.
Nim. Well, he did cry out on women.
Hoſt. Indeed he d id in ſome ſort handle women
But then he was rumaticke,
And talkt of the whore of Babilon.
Boy. Hoſtes, do you remember he ſaw a Flea ſtand
Vpon Bardolfes noſe, and ſed it was a blacke ſoule
Burning in hell?

Bard.

Bar. Well, God be with him,
That was all the wealth I got in his ſeruice.
Nim. Shall we ſhog off?
The king will be gone from Southampton.
Piſt. Cleare vp thy criſtals,
Looke to my chattels and my moueables;
Truſt none; the word is pitch and pay:
Mens words are wafer cakes,
And hold faſt is the onely dog my deare.
Therefore cophetua be thy counſellor,
Touch her ſoft lips and part.
Bar. Farewell hoſteſſe.
Nim. I cannot kis, and theres the humor of it.
But adieu.
Piſt. Keepe faſt thy buggle boe.

Exit omnes.

Enter King of France, Bourbon, Dolphin, and others.

King. Now you Lords of Orleance,
Of Bourbon, and of Berry,
You ſee the King of England is not ſlacke,
For he is footed on this Land already.
Dolphin. My gracious Lord,
Tis meete we all go foorth,
And arme vs againſt the foe:
And view the weake and ſickly parts of France:
But let vs do it with no ſhew of feare,
No with no more, then if we heard
England were troubled with a Morris dance.
For my good Lord, ſhe is ſo idely kingd,
Her ſcepter ſo fantaſtically borne,
So guided by a ſhallow humorous youth,
That feare attends her not.
Con. O peace Prince Dolphin, you deceiue your ſelfe,

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Queſtion your Grace the late Embaſſador,
With what regard he heard his Embaſſage,
How well ſupplied with aged Counſellors,
And how his reſolution anſwer'd him,
You then would ſay, that Harry was not wilde.
King. Well, thinke we Harry ſtrong,
And ſtrongly arme vs to preuent the foe.
Con. My Lord, heere is an Ambaſſador
From the King of England.
King. Bid him come in.
You ſee this chaſe is hotly followed, Lords.
Dol. My gracious father, cut vp this Engliſh ſhort,
Selfe-loue my Liege is not ſo vile a thing
As ſelfe-neglecting.

Enter Exeter.

King. From our brother of England?
Exe. From him, and thus he greets your Maieſty;
He wils you in the name of God Almighty,
That you deueſt your ſelfe, and lay apart
That borrowed title, which by gift of heauen,
Of law, of nature, and of Nations, longs
To him and to his heires, namely the Crowne
And all wide ſtretched titles that belongs
Vnto the crowne of France, that you may know
Tis no ſiniſter, nor no awkeward claime,
Pickt from the wormeholes of old vaniſht daies
Nor from the duſt of old obliuion rackt,
He ſends you theſe moſt memorable lines,
In euery branch truely demonſtrated:
Willing you ouerlooke this pedigree,
And when you finde him euenly deriued
From his moſt famed and famous Anceſtors,
Edward the third; he bids you then reſigne
Your Crowne and Kingdome, indirectly held
From him, the native and true Challenger.

King.

King. If not, what followes?
Exe. Bloody cõſtraint, for if you hide the crown
Euen in your hearts, there will he rake for it:
Therefore in fierce tempeſt is he comming
In thunder, and in earthquake, like a Ioue,
That if requiring faile, he will compell it:
And on your heads turnes he the widows teares
The orphants cries, the dead mens bones,
The pining maidens grones,
For husbands, fathers, and diſtreſſed louers,
Which ſhall be ſwallowed in this controuerſie.
This is his claime, his threatning, & my meſſage,
Vnleſſe the Dolphin be in preſence heere,
To whom expreſly we bring greeting too.
Dol. For the Dolphin? I ſtand here for him,
What to heare from England.
Exe. Scorn & defiance, ſlight regard, contempt,
And any thing that may not miſ-become
The mighty ſender, doth he prize you at:
Thus ſaith my King. Vnles your fathers highnes
Sweeten the bitter mocke you ſent his Maieſty,
Hee'l call you to ſo loud an anſwer for it,
That Caues and wombly Vaults of France
Shall chide your treſpaſſe, & returne your mock,
In ſecond accent of his Ordenance.
Dol. Say that my father render faire reply,
It is againſt my will:
For I deſire nothing ſo much,
As oddes with England.
And for that cauſe, according to his youth,
I did preſent him with thoſe Paris balles.
Exe. Hee'l make your Paris Louer ſhake for it,
Were it the Miſtreſſe Court of mighty Europe.
And be aſſured, you'l finde a difference,
As we his ſubiects haue in wonder found,
Betweene his yonger daies, and theſe he muſters now;

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Now he weighes time euen to the lateſt graine,
Which you ſhall finde in your owne loſſes,
If we ſtay in France.

King. Well, for vs you ſhall returne our anſwer backe
To our brother of England.

Exit omnes.

Enter Nim, Bardolfe, Piſtoll, and Boy.

Nim. Before God heeres hot ſeruice.

Piſt. Tis hot indeed, blowes go and come,
Gods vaſſals drop and dye.

Nim, Tis honor, and there's the humor of it.

Boy. Would I were in London,
Ide giue all my honour for a pot of Ale.

Piſt. And I: if wiſhes would preuaile,
I would not ſtay, but thither would I hie.

Enter Flewellen, and beats them in.

Flew. Gods plud, vp to the breaches
You raſcals, will you not vp to the breaches?

Nim. Abate thy rage ſweete knight,
Abate thy rage.

Boy. Well, I would I were once from them;
They would haue me as familiar
With mens pockets, as their Gloues and their
Handkerchers, they will ſteale any thing.
Bardolfe ſtole a Lute-caſe, carried it three mile,
And ſold it for three halfepence.
Nim ſtole a fire-ſhouell,
I knew by that, they meant to carry coales:
Well, if they will not leaue me,
I meane to leaue them.

Exit Nim, Bardolfe, Piſtoll, and Boy.

Enter Gower.

Gower. Captaine Flewellen, you muſt come ſtrait
To the Mines, to the Duke of Gloſter.

Flew.

Flew. Looke you, tell the Duke it is not ſo good
To come to the Mines: the concuaueties is otherwiſe,
You may diſcuſſe to the Duke, the enemy is digd
Himſelfe fiue yards vnder the countermines:
By Ieſhu I thinke hoel blow vp all,
If there be no better direction.

Alarum. Enter the King and his Lords.

King. How yet reſolues the Gouernor of the Towne?
This is the lateſt parley weel admit;
Therefore to our beſt mercy giue your ſelues,
Or like to men proud of deſtruction, defie vs to our worſt,
For as I am a ſouldier, a name that in my thoughts
Becomes me beſt, if we begin the battery once againe,
I will not leaue the halfe atchieued Harflew,
Till in her aſhes ſhe be buried,
The gates of mercy are all ſhut vp.
What ſay you, will you yeeld and this auoid,
Or guilty in defence be thus deſtroid?

Enter Gouernor.

Gouer. Our expectation hath this day an end:
The Dolphin, whom of ſuccout we entreated,
Returnes vs word, his powers are not yet ready
To raiſe ſo great a ſiege: therefore dread King,
We yeeld our towne and liues to thy ſoft mercy:
Enter our gates, diſpoſe of vs and ours,
For we no longer are defenſiue now.

Enter Katherine and Alice.

Kate. Alice venecia, vous aues cates en,
Vou parte fort bon Angloys englatara,
Coman ſae palla vou la main en francoy.

Alice.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Alice. La main madam de han.
Kate. E da bras.
Alice. De arma madam.
Kate. Le main da han la bras de arma,
Alice. Owye Madam.
Kate. E Coman ſa pella vow la menton a la coll.

Kate. O et ill auſie, ecoute Alice, de han, de arma,
De neck, de cin, le foote, e de con.
Alice. Cet fort bon Madam.
Kate. A loues a diner.

Exit omnes.

Enter King of France, Lord Conſtable, the Dolphin, and Bourbon.

King. Tis certaine he is paſt the Riuer Some.
Con. Mordeu ma via: Shall a few ſpranes of vs.
(The emptying of our fathers luxery)
Out-

Outgrow their grafters.
Bur. Normanes, baſtard Normanes, mor du,
And if they paſſe vnfought withall,
Ieſell my Dukedome for a foggy Farme
In that ſhort nooke Ile of England.
Con. Why whence haue they this mettall?
Is not their Climate raw, foggy, and cold.
On whom, as in diſdaine, the Sunne lookes pale?
Can barley broth, a drench for ſwolne Iades,
Their ſodden water decockt ſuch liuely blood?
And ſhall our quicke blood, ſpirited with wine,
Seeme froſty? O for honour of our names,
Let vs not hang like frozen Iceſickles
Vpon our houſes tops, while they (a more froſty Climate)
Sweate drops of youthfull blood.
King. Conſtable diſpatch, ſend Montioy foorth,
To know what willing ranſome he will giue:
Sonne Dolphin, you ſhall ſtay in Rhone with me.
Dol. Not ſo, I do beſeech your Maieſty.
King. Well, I ſay it ſhall be ſo.

Exeunt omnes.

Enter Gower and Flewellen.

Gower. How now Captaine Flewellen,
Come you from the bridge?
Flew. By Ieſus there's excellent ſeruice committed at the bridge?
Gower. Is the Duke of Exeter ſafe?
Flew. The Duke of Exeter is a man whom I loue,
And I honour, and I worſhip with my ſoule,
And my heart, and my life,
And my lands, and my liuings,
And my vttermoſt powers.
The Duke is looke you,
God be praiſed and pleaſed for it,
No harme in the worell.

He

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

He is maintaine the Bridge very gallantly:
There is an Enſigne there,
I do not know how you call him,
But by Ieſhu I thinke he is as valiant as Marke Anthony,
He doth maintaine the Bridge moſt gallantly;
Yet he is a man of no reckoning;
But I did ſee him do gallant ſeruice.

Gouer. how do you call him?

Flew. his name is ancient Piſtoll.

Gouer. I know him not.

Enter Ancient Piſtoll.

Flew. Do you not know him, here comes the man.

Piſt. Captaine, I thee beſeech to do me a fauour,
The Duke of Exeter doth loue thee well.

Flew. I, and I praiſe God I haue merited ſome loue at his hands.

Piſt. Bardolfe a ſouldier, one of buxſome valour,
Hath by furious fate, and giddy Fortunes fickle wheele,
That God's blinde that ſtands vpon the rowling reſtleſſe ſtone.

Flew. By your patience Ancient Piſtoll,
Fortune looke you is painted plinde,
With a muſler before her eyes,
To ſignifie to you, that Fortune is plinde:
And ſhe is moreouer painted with a wheele,
Which is the Morall that Fortune is turning,
And inconſtant, and variation, and mutabilities:
And her fare is fixed at a ſpherical ſtone,
Which rolles, and rolles, and rolles;
Surely the Poet is make an excellent deſcription of Fortune.
Fortune looke you is an excellent Morall.

Piſt. Fortune is Bardolfes foe, and frownes on him,
For he hath ſtolne a packs, and hangd muſt he be;
A damned death, let gallowes gape for dogs,

Let man go free, and let not death his windpipe ſtop.
But Exeter hath giuen the doome of death,
For packs of petty price:
Therefore go ſpeake, the Duke will heare thy voice,
And let not Bardolfes vitall thred be cut,
With edge of penny cord, and vile approach.
Speake Captaine for his life, and I will thee requite.

Flew. Captaine Piſtoll, I partly vnderſtand your meaning.

Piſt. Why then reioyce therefore.

Flew. Certainly Ancient Piſtoll,
Tis not a thing to reioyce at,
For if he were my owne brother, I would wiſh the Duke
To do his pleaſure, and put him to executions;
For looke you, diſciplines ought to be kept,
They ought to be kept.

Piſt. Die and be damned, and a fig for thy friendſhip.

Flew. That is good.

Piſt. The figge of Spaine within thy law.

Flew. That is very well.

Piſt. I ſay the fig within thy bowels & thy durty maw.

Exit Piſtoll.

Flew. Captaine Gower, cannot you heare it lighten and thunder?

Gower. Why is this the Ancient you told me of?
I remember him now, he is a bawd, a cut-purſe.

Flew. By Ieſus he is vtter as praue words vpon the bridge
As you ſhall deſire to ſee in a ſommers day;
But tis all one, what he hath ſed to me,
Looke you, is all one.

Gower. Why this is a gull, a foole, a rogue
That goes to the wars onely to grace himſelfe
At his returne to London:
And ſuch fellowes as he,
Are perfect in great Commanders names.
They will learne by rote where ſeruices were done,
At ſuch and ſuch a ſconce, at ſuch a breach,

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

At such a conuoy, who came off brauely, who was shot,
Who disgraced, what termes the enemy stood on.
And this they con perfectly in phrase of warre,
Which they tricke vp with new tun'd oathes,
And what a beard of the Generals cut,
And a horrid shout of the Campe
Will do among the foming bottles and alewasht wits
Is wonderfull to be thought on: but you must learne
To know such slanders of this age,
Or else you may meruellously be mistooke.

Flew. Certaine Captaine Gower, it is not the man,
Looke you, that I did take him to be:
But when time shall serue, I shall tell him a little
Of my desires: heere comes his Maiesty.

Enter King, Clarence, Gloster, and others.

King. How now Flewellen, come you from the bridge?

Flew. I and it shall please your Maiesty,
There is excellent seruice at the bridge.

King. What men haue you lost Flewellen?

Flew. And it shall please your Maiesty,
The partition of the aduersary hath beene great,
Very reasonably great, but for our owne parts,
I thinke we haue lost neuer a man, vnlesse it be one
For robbing of a Church, one Bardolfe, if your Maiesty
Know the man, his face is full of whelks, and knubs,
And pumples, and his breath blowes at his nose
Like a coale, sometimes red, sometimes plew;
But God be praised, now his nose is executed,
And his fire out.

King. We would haue all offenders so cut off,
And here we giue expresse commandement,
That there be nothing taken from the villages
But paid for; none of the French abused,
Or vpbraided with disdainfull language:
For when cruelty and lenity play for a Kingdome,
The gentlest gamester is the sooner winner.

Enter

Enter the French Herauld.

Herald. You know me by my habite.

King. Well then, we know thee,
What should we know of thee?

Her. My Masters minde. King. Vnfold it.

Her. Go thee vnto Harry of England, and tell him,
Aduantage is a better souldier then rashnesse:
Although we did seeme dead, we did but slumber.
Now we speake vpon our kue, & our voyce is imperiall,
England shall repent her folly, see her rashnesse,
And admire our sufferance. VVhich to ransome,
His pettinesse would bow vnder:
For the effusion of our blood, his army is too weake;
For the disgrace we haue borne, himselfe kneeling
At our feete, a weake and worthlesse satisfaction.
To this, adde defiance.
So much from the King my Master.

King. VVhat is thy name? we know thy quality.

Herald. Montioy.

King. Thou dost thy office faire, returne thee backe,
And tell thy King, I do not seeke him now;
But could be well content, without impeach,
To march on to Callis; for to say the sooth,
(Though tis no wisedome to confesse so much Vnto an enemy of craft and vantage)
My souldiers are with sickenesse much enfeebled,
My Army lessened, and those few I haue,
Almost no better then so many French:
VVho when they were in heart, I tell thee Herald,
I thought vpon one paire of English legs,
Did march three Frenchmens.
Yet God forgiue me, that I do brag thus;
Your aire of France hath blowne this vice in me.
I must repent, go tell thy Matter here I am,
My ransome is this fraile and worthlesse body,
My Army but a weake and sickly guard.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Yet God before, we will come on,
If France and ſuch another neighbor ſtood in our way;
If we may paſſe, we will; if we be hindered,
We ſhal your tawny groũd with your red blood diſcolour
So Montioy get you gone, there's for your paines:
The ſum of all our anſwere is but this,
We would not ſeeke a battle as we are;
Nor as we are, we ſay we will not ſhun it.
Herald. I ſhall deliuer ſo: thanks to your Maieſty.
Gloſt. My Liege, I hope they will not come vpon vs now.
King. We are in Gods hand brother, not in theirs;
To night we will encampe beyond the bridge,
And on to morrow bid them march away. Exit.

Enter Burbon, Conſtable, Orleance, and Gebon.

Con. Tut, I haue the beſt armour in the world.
Orleance. You haue an excellent armour,
But let my horſe haue his due.
Bur. Now you talke of a horſe,
I haue a ſteed like the Palfrey of the ſunne,
Nothing but pure aire and fire,
And hath none of this dull element of earth within him.
Orleance. He is of the colour of the Nutmeg.
Bur. And of the heate of the Ginger.
Turne all the ſands into eloquent tongues,
And my horſe is argument for them all:
I once writ a Sonnet in the praiſe of my horſe,
And began thus, Wonder of nature.
Con. I haue heard a Sonnet begin ſo,
In the praiſe of ones Miſtreſſe.
Bur. Why then did they imitate
That which I writ in praiſe of my horſe,
For my horſe is my Miſtreſſe.
Con. Ma foy the other day, me-thought
Your Miſtreſſe ſhooke you ſhrewdly.

Bur.

Bur. I, bearing me. I tell thee Lord Conſtable,
My Miſtreſſe weares her owne haire.
Con. I could make as good a boaſt of that,
If I had a Sow to my Miſtreſſe.
Bur. Tut, thou wilt make vſe of any thing.
Con. Yet I do not vſe my horſe for my Miſtreſſe.
Bur. Will it neuer be morning?
Ile ride too morrow a mile,
And my way ſhall be paued with engliſh faces.
Con. By my faith ſo will not I,
For feare I be out-faced of my way.
Bur. Well, ile go arme my ſelfe; hay. Exit.
Gebon. The Duke of Burbon longs for morning.
Orleance. I, he longs to eate the Engliſh.
Con. I thinke hee'l eate all he kils.
Orlean. O peace, ill will neuer ſaid well.
Con. Ile cap that Prouerbe,
With there's flattery in friendſhip.
Orle. O ſir, I can anſwer that,
With giue the Diuell his due.
Con. Haue at the eye of that Prouerbe,
With a iogge of the Diuell.
Orle. Well, the Duke of Burbon is ſimply
The moſt actiue Gentleman of France.
Con. Doing his actiuity, and hee'l ſtill be doing.
Orle. He neuer did hurt as I heard off.
Con. No I warrant you, nor neuer will.
Orle. I hold him to be exceeding valiant.
Con. I was told ſo by one that knowes him better then you.
Orle. Whoſe that?
Con. Why he told me ſo himſelfe.
And ſaid he cared not who knew it.
Orle. Well, who will go with me to hazard,
For a hundred Engliſh priſoners?
Con. You muſt go to hazard your ſelfe,

Before

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Before you haue them.

Enter a Messenger.

Mess. My Lords, the English lie within a hundred Paces of your Tent.

Con. VVho hath measured the ground?

Mess. The Lord Granpeere.

Con. A valiant man, an expert Gentleman.
Come, come away,
The Sun is hie, and we weare out the day. Exit omnes.

Enter the King disguised, to him Pistoll.

Pist. Ke ve la?

King. A friend.

Pist. Discus vnto me, art thou a gentleman?
Or art thou common, base, and popeler?

King. No sir, I am a Gentleman of a Company.

Pist. Trailes thou the puissant Pike?

King. Euen so sir. VVhat are you?

Pist. As good a gentleman as the Emperor.

King. O then thou art better then the King.

Pist. The Kings a bago, and a hart of gold,
A lad of life, an impe of fame,
Of parents good, of fist most valiant:
I kis his durty shooe, and from my heart strings
I loue the louely bully. What is thy name?

King. Harry le Roy.

Pist. Le Roy, a Cornish man;
Art thou of Cornish crew?

King. No sir, I am a Welchman.

Pist. A Welchman; knowst thou Flewellen?

King. I sir, he is my kinsman.

Pist. Art thou his friend?

King. I sir.

Pist. Figa for thee then; my name is Pistoll.

King. It sorts well with your fiercenesse.

Pist.

Pist. Pistoll is my name. Exit Pistoll.

Enter Gower and Flewellen.

Gower. Captaine Flewellen.

Flew. In the name of Iesu speake lower.
It is the greatest folly in the worell, when the ancient Prerogatiues of the warres be not kept.
I warrant you, if you looke into the wars of the Romanes,
You shall finde no tittle tattle, nor bibble babble there,
But you shall finde the cares, and the feares,
And the ceremonies to be otherwise.

Gow. Why the enemy is loud: you heard him all night.

Flew. Godes sollud, if the enemy be an asse & a foole,
And a prating cocks-combe, is it meet that we be also
A foole, and a prating cocks-combe,
In your conscience now?

Gower. Ile speake lower.

Flew. I beseech you do, good Captaine Gower.

Exit Gower and Flewellen.

King. Though it appeare a little out of fashion,
Yet there's much care in this.

Enter three Souldiers.

1. Soul. Is not that the morning yonder?

2. Soul. I, we see the beginning,
God knowes whether we shall see the end or no.

3. Soul. Well, I thinke the King could wish himselfe
Vp to the necke in the middle of the Thames,
And so I would he were, at all aduentures, and I with him.

King. Now masters good morrow, what cheare?

3. Soul. Ifaith small cheere some of vs is like to haue,
Ere this day to an end.

King. Why feare nothing man, the king is frolike.

2. Soul. I he may be, for he hath no cause as we.

King. Nay say not so, he is a man as we are,
The Violet smels to him as vnto vs;
Therefore if he see reasons, he feares as we do.

2. Soul.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

2. Soul. But the King hath a heauy reckoning to make,
If his cause be not good; when all those soules
Whose bodies shall be slaughtered here,
Shall ioyne together at the latter day,
And say I dyed at such a place. Some swearing;
Some their wiues rawly left;
Some leauing their children poore behinde them.
Now if his cause be bad,
I thinke it will be a greeuous matter to him.
King. Why so you may say, if a man send his seruant
As Factor into another Country,
And he by any meanes miscarry,
You may say the businesse of the Master
Was the author of his seruants mis-fortune.
Or if a sonne be imployd by his father,
And he fall into any leud action, you may say the father
Was the author of his sonnes damnation.
But the master is not to answer for his seruant,
The father for his sonne, nor the king for his subiects;
For they purpose not their deaths,
When they craue their seruices;
Some there are that haue the gift
Of premeditated murder on them:
Others the broken seale of Forgery, in beguiling maidens
Now if these out-strip the law,
Yet they cannot escape Gods punishment.
War is Gods Beadle. War is Gods vengeance:
Euery mans seruice is the Kings:
But euery mans soule is his owne.
Therefore I would haue euery souldier examine himselfe,
And wash euery moth out of his conscience,
That in so doing, he may be the readier for death;
Or not dying, why the time was well spent,
Wherein such preparation was made.
3. Soul. If faith he saies true,
Euery mans fault is on his owne head,

I would not haue the king answer for me,
Yet I intend to fight lustily for him.
King. Well, I heard the king wold not be ransomd.
2. Soul. I he said so, to make vs fight;
But when our throats be cut, he may be ransomd,
And we neuer the wiser.
King. If I liue to see that, ile neuer trust his word againe.
2. Soul. Masse you'l pay him then,
Tis a great displeasure that an elder
Gun can do against a Cannon,
Or a subiect against a Monarch.
You'l nere take his word againe, you are a nasse, goe.
King. Your reproofe is somewhat too bitter;
Were it not at this time I could be angry.
2. Soul. Why let it be a quarrell if thou wilt.
King. How shall I know thee?
2. Soul. Here's my gloue, which if euer I see in thy hat,
Ile challenge thee, and strike thee.
King. Here is likewise another of mine,
And assure thee ile weare it.
2. Soul. Thou dar'st as well be hangd.
3. Soul. Be friends you fooles,
We haue French quarrels enow in hand,
We haue no need of English broyles.
King. Tis no treason to cut French Crownes,
For to morrow the King himselfe will be a clipper.

Exit the souldiers.

Enter to the King, Glocester, Epingham, and Attendants.

King. O God of battels steele my souldiers harts,
Take from them now the sence of reckoning,
That the apposed multitudes which stand before them,
May not appale their courage.
O not too day, not too day O God,

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Thinke on the fault my father made,
In compaſſing the Crowne.
I Richards body haue interred new,
And on it hath beſtow'd more contrite teares,
Then from it iſſued forced drops of blood;
A hundred men haue I in yearely pay,
Which euery day their withered hands hold vp
To heauen, to pardon blood,
And I haue built two Chanceries, more will I do:
Though all that I can do is all too little.

Enter Gloſter.

Glo. My Lord.
King. My brother Glofters voice.
Glo. My Lord, the army ſtayes vpon your preſence.
Kin. Stay Gloſter ſtay, and I will go with thee,
The day, my friends, and all things ſtayes for me.

Enter Clarence, Gloſter, Exeter, & Salisbury.

War. My Lords, the French are very ſtrong,
Ex. There's fiue to one, and yet they are all freſh.
War. Of fighting men they haue full forty thouſand.
Sal. The oddes is all too great. Farwell kinde Lords:
Braue Clarence, and my Lord of Gloſter,
My Lord of Warwicke, and to all farewell.
Cla. Farewell kinde Lords, fight valiantly to day,
And yet in truth I do thee wrong,
For thou art made on the true ſparkes of honor.

Enter King.

War. O would we had but ten thouſand men
Now at this inſtant, that doth not worke in England.
Kin. Whoſe that, that wiſhes ſo, my couſen Warwick?
Gods will I would not looſe the honour
One man would ſhare from me,
Not for my kingdome.

No faith my Coſen, wiſh not one man more,
Rather proclaime it preſently through our camp
That he that hath no ſtomacke to this feaſt
Let him depart, his paſport ſhall bee drawne,
And crownes for conuoy put into his purſe,
We would not dye in that mans company,
That feares his fellowſhip to dye with vs.
This day is called the day of Criſpin:
He that out-liues this day, and ſees olde age,
Shall ſtand a tip-to when this day is named,
And rowſe him at the name of Criſpin.
He that out-liues this day, and comes ſafe home,
Shall yearly on the vigill feaſt his friends,
And ſay, to morrow is S. Criſpins day:
Then ſhall we in their flowing boules
Be newly remembred. Harry the King,
Bedford and Exeter, Clarence, and Gloſter,
Warwicke, and Yorke,
Familiar in their mouths as houſhold wordes.
This ſtory ſhall the good man tell his ſon,
And from this day vnto the generall doome,
But we in it ſhall be remembred.
We few, we happy few, we bond of brothers,
For he to day that ſheds his blood by mine
Shall be my brother. Be he nere ſo baſe
This day ſhall gentle his condition.
Then ſhal he ſtrip his ſleeues, & ſhew his ſcars,
And ſay, theſe wounds I had on Criſpins day.
And Gentlemen in England now a bed,
Shall thinke themſelues accurſt,
They were not there, when any ſpeakes
That fought with vs vpon S. Criſpines day.
Glo. My gracious Lord,
The French is in the field.
Kin. Why all things are ready if our mindes be ſo.
War. Periſh the man whoſe minde is backward now.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

King. Thou doſt not wiſh more helpe from England, Couſen?

War. Gods will my Liege, would you and I alone,
Without more helpe, might fight this battell out.
Why well ſaid. That doth pleaſe me better,
Then to wiſh me one. You know your charge,
God be with you all.

Enter the Herauld from the French.

Her. Once more I come to know of thee king Henry,
What thou wilt giue for ranſome?
King. Who hath ſent thee now?
Her. The Conſtable of France.
King. I prethee beare my former anſwer backe,
Bid them atchieue me, and then ſell my bones.
Good God, why ſhould they mocke good fellowes thus?
The man that once did ſell the Lyons skin
VVhile the beaſt liued, was kild with hunting him.
And many of our bodies ſhall no doubt
Finde graues within your Realme of France:
Though buried in your dunghils, we ſhall be famed,
For there the Sunne ſhall greete them,
And draw vp their honors reaking vp to heauen,
Leauing their earthly parts to choake your clime;
The ſmell whereof, ſhall breed a plague in France;
Marke then abundant valour in our Engliſh,
That being dead, like to the bullets craſing,
Breakes foorth into a ſecond courſe of miſchiefe,
Killing in relaps of mortality:
Let me ſpeake proudly,
There's not a peece of feather in our Campe;
Good argument I hope we ſhall not flye,
And time hath worne vs into flouendry.
But by the maſſe, our hearts are in the trim,
And my poore ſouldiers tell me, yet ere night

They'l

They'l be in freſher robes, or they will plucke
The gay new cloaths ore your French ſouldiers eares,
And turne them out of ſeruice. If they do this,
As if it pleaſe God they ſhall,
Then ſhall our ranſome ſoone be leuied;
Saue thou thy labour Herauld,
Come thou no more for ranſome, gentle Herauld.
They ſhall haue nought I ſweare, but theſe my bones:
Which if they haue, as I will leaue vm them,
VVill yeeld them little, tell the Conſtable.
Her. I ſhall deliuer ſo.

Exit Herald.

Yorke. My gracious Lord, vpon my knee I craue
The leading of the vaward.
King. Take it braue Yorke.
Come ſouldiers let's away,
And as thou pleaſeſt God, diſpoſe the day. Exit.

Enter the foure French Lords.

Gebon. O diabello.
Con. Mor du ma vie.
Orle. O what a day is this!
Bur. O Iour dei houte all is gone, all is loſt.
Con. VVe are enow yet liuing in the field,
To ſmother vp the Engliſh,
If any order might be thought vpon.
Bur. A plague of order, once more to the field,
And he that will not follow Burbon now,
Let him go home, and with his cap in hand,
Like a baſe leno hold the chamber doore,
VVhy leaſt by a ſlaue no gentler then my dog,
His faireſt daughter is contamuracke.
Con. Diſorder that hath ſpoild vs, right vs now,
Come we in heapes, wee'l offer vp our liues
Vnto theſe Engliſh, or elſe die with fame.

French. O Monſieur, ie vou en pree aues petie de moy.
Piſt. Moy ſhall not ſerue, I will haue forty moys.
Boy, aske his name.
Boy. Comant ettes v ous apelles?
Fren. Monſieur Fer.
Boy. He ſayes his name is maſter Fer.
Piſt. Ile Fer him, and ferit him, and ferke him,
Boy diſcuſſe the ſame in French.
Boy. Sir I do not know whats French for Fer, ferite, and ferke.
Piſt. Bid him prepare, for I will cut his throat.
Boy. Feate, vou preat, ill voulles couple votre gorge.
Piſt. Onye ma foy couple la gorge,
Vnleſſe thou giue to me egregious ranſome, dye.

One point of a fox.

Fren. Qui dit ill monſieur,
Ill ditye ſi vou ny vouly pa domy luy.
Boy. La gran ranſome, ill voutueres.
Fren. O ie vous en pri petit gentelhome, parle
A cee, gran Captaine, pour auez mercie
A moy, ey iee donerees pour mon ranſome
Cinquante ocios. Ie ſuyes vngentelhome de France.
Piſt. What ſayes he boy?
Boy. Marry ſir he ſayes he is a gentleman of a great
Houſe of France, and for his ranſome,
He will giue you 500. Crownes.
Piſt. My fury ſhall abate,
And I the Crownes will take,
And as I ſucke blood, I will ſome mercie ſhew.

Folow

Follow me cur.

Exit omnes

Enter the King, his Nobles, and Piſtoll.

King. What the French retire?
Yet als not done, the French keepes ſtill the field.
Ex. The Duke of Yorke commends him to your Grace.
Kin. Liues he good vnkle, twice I ſaw him downe,
Twice vp againe:
From helmet to the ſpur, all bleeding ore.
Exe. In which array, braue ſouldier doth he lye,
Larding the plaines, and by his bloody ſide,
Yoake-fellow to his honour-dying wounds,
The Noble Earle of Suffolke alſo lyes.
Suffolke firſt dyed, and Yorke all wounded ore
Comes to him where in blood he lay all ſteept,
And takes him by the beard, kiſſes the gaſhes
That bloudily did yawne vpon his face,
And cryed alowd, tarry deere couſin Suffolke:
My ſoule ſhall thine keepe company in heauen:
Tarry deere ſoule awhile, then flye to reſt:
And in this glorious and well-foughten field,
We kept togither in our Chiualry:
Vpon theſe words I came and cheer'd them vp,
He tooke me by the hand, ſaide deere my Lorde,
Commend my ſeruice to my Soueraigne,
So did he turne, and ouer Suffolkes necke
He threw his wounded arme, and ſo eſpouſd to death
With blood he ſealed. An argument,
Of neuer-ending loue.
The pretty and ſweete manner of it,
Forc'd thoſe waters from me, which I would haue ſtopte,
But I had not ſo much of man in me,
But all my mother came into my eyes,
And gaue me vp to teares.
Kin. I blame you not: for hearing you,
I muſt conuert to teares.

Alarum

Alarum sounds.

VVhat new alarum is this?
Bid euery ſouldier kill his priſoner.
Piſt. Couple gorge. Exit omnes.

Enter Flewellen, and Captaine Gower.

Flew. Godes plud kill the boyes and the lugyge,
Tis the arrants peece of knauery as can be deſired
In the worell now, in your conſcience now.
Gower. Tis certaine, there's not a boy left aliue,
And the cowardly raſcals that ran from the battell,
Themſelues haue done this ſlaughter;
Beſide, they haue carried away and burnt
All that was in the Kings Tent:
VVhereupon the king cauſed euery priſoners
Throat to be cut. Oh he is a worthy King.
Flew. I, he was borne at Monmouth;
Captaine Gower, what call you the place where
Alexander the big was borne?
Gower. Alexander the great.
Flew. VVhy I pray, is not big great?
As if I ſay, big, or great, or magnanimous,
I hope tis all one reckoning,
Saue the phraſe is a little varation.
Gower. I thinke Alexander the great
VVas borne at Macedon,
His father was called Philip of Macedon,
As I take it.
Flew. I thinke it was Macedon indeed
VVhere Alexander was borne:
Looke you Captaine Gower,
And if you looke into the Maps of the worell well,
You ſhall finde little difference betweene
Macedon and Monmouth. Looke you, there is

A Riuer in Macedon, and there is alſo a Riuer
In Monmouth, the Riuers name at Monmouth
Is called Wye.
But tis out of my braine what is the name of the other:
But tis all one, tis ſo like, as my fingers is to fingers,
And there is Samons in both.
Looke you Captaine Gower, and you marke it,
You ſhall finde our King is come after Alexander,
God knowes, and you know, that Alexander in his
Bowles, and his Ales, and his wrath, & his diſpleaſures
And indignations, was kill his friend Clitus.
Gow. I but our King is not like him in that,
For he neuer kild any of his friends.
Flew. Looke you, tis not well done to take the tale out
Of a mans mouth, ere it is made an end and finiſhed:
I ſpeake in the compariſons, as Alexander is kill
His friend Clitus: ſo our King being in his ripe
Wits and iudgements, is turne away the fat Knite
With the great belly doublet:
I am forget his name.
Gower. Sir Iohn Falſtaffe.
Flew. I, I thinke it is Sir Iohn Falſtaffe indeed,
I can tell you, there's good men borne at Monmorth,

Enter the King and his Lords.

King. I was not angry ſince I came in France,
Vntill this houre.
Take a Trumpet Herauld,
And ride vnto the horſemen on yon hill:
If they will fight with vs, bid them come downe,
Or leaue the field, they do offend our ſight.
Will they do neither, we will come to them,
And make them skyr away, as faſt
As ſtones enforc'd from the old Aſſyrian ſlings.
Beſides, weel cut the throats of thoſe we haue,
And not one aliue ſhall taſte our mercy.

Enter the Herald.

Gods will what meanes this? knowſt thou not
That we haue fined theſe bones of ours for ranſome?
Her. I come great King for charitable fauour,
To ſort our Nobles from our common men,
We may haue leaue to bury all our dead,
Which in the fielde lye ſpoiled and troden on.
Kin. I tell thee truly Herald,
I do not know whether the day be ours or no:
For yet a many of your French do keepe the field.
Her. The day is yours.
Kin. Praiſed be God therefore:
What Caſtle call you that?
Her. We call it Agincourt.
Kin. Then call we this the fielde of Agincourt,
Fought on the day of Criſpin, Criſpianus.
Flew. Your Grandfather of famous memory,
If your Grace be remembred,
Is do good ſeruice in France.
King. Tis true Flewellen.
Flew. Your Maieſty ſayes very true.
And it pleaſe your Maieſty,
The Welſhmen there was do good ſeruice,
In a Garden where Leekes did grow,
And I thinke your Maieſty will take no ſcorne,
To weare a Leeke in your cap vpon S. Dauies day.
King. No Flewellen, for I am Welſh as well as you.
Flew. All the water in Wye will not waſh your welch
Blood out of you. God keepe it, and preſerue it,
To his graces will and pleaſure.
King. Thankes good Countrey-man.
Flew. By Ieſu I am your Maieſties Countryman, (man.
I care not who kno it, ſo long as your maieſty is an honeſt
King. God keepe me ſo. Our Herald go with him,
And bring vs the number of the ſcattered French,

Exit Heralds.

Call

Call yonder ſouldier hither.
Flew. You fellow, come to the King.
Kin. Fellow, why doſt thou weare that gloue in thy hat?
Soul. And pleaſe your maieſty, tis a raſcalles that ſwaggard with me the other day: and he hath one of mine, the which if euer I ſee, I haue ſworne to ſtrike him: ſo hath he the like to mee.
Kin. How thinke you Flewellen, is it lawfull to keep his Oath?
Fl. And it pleaſe your Maieſty tis lawful to keep his vow If he be periur'd once, he is as arrant a beggarly knaue, as treads vpon too blacke ſhooes.
King. His enemy may be a Gentleman of worth.
Flew. And if he be as good a Gentleman as Lucifer and Belzebub, and the diuell himſelfe,
Tis meete he keepe his vow.
King. Well ſirrha keepe your word,
Vnder what Captaine ſerueſt thou?
Soul. Vnder Captaine Gower.
Flew. Captaine Gower is a good Captaine,
And hath good litterature in the warres.
Kin. Go call him hither.
Soul. I will my Lord.

Exit ſouldier.

Kin. Captaine Flewellen, when Alanſon and I
Were downe together, I tooke this gloue from's helmet,
Heere Flewellen weare it.
If any challenge it, he is a friend of Alonſons,
And an enemy to me.
Flew. Your Maieſty doth me as great a fauour,
As can be deſired in the hearts of his ſubiects.
I would ſee that man now that wold challenge this gloue
And it pleaſe God of his grace I would but ſee him,
That is all.
King. Flewellen knowſt thou Captaine Gower?
Flew. Captaine Gower is my friend

And

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

And if it like your maiesty, I know him very well.
King. Go call him hither.
Flew. I will and it shall please your maiesty.
Kin. Follow Flewellen closely at the heeles,
The gloue he weares, it was the soldiers:
It may be there will be harme betweene them,
For I do know Flewellen valiant,
And being toucht, as hot as Gun-powder:
And quickly will returne an iniury.
Go see there be no harme betweene them.

Enter Captaine Gower, Flewellen, and the Soldier.

Flew. Captaine Gower, in the name of Iesu
Come to his maiesty, there is more good towards you
Then you can dreame of.
Soul. Do you heare, you sir,
Do you know this gloue?
Flew. I know the gloue is a gloue.
Soul. Sir I know this, and thus I challenge it.
He strikes him.
Flew. Gods plut, and his Captaine Gower stand away,
Ile giue treason his due presently.

Enter the King, Warwicke, Clarence, and Exeter.

King. How now? Whats the matter?
Flew. And it shall please your maiesty,
Heere is the notablest peece of treason come to light
As you shall desire to see in a sommers day.
Heere is a rascall, beggerly rascall is strike the gloue,
Which your maiesty in person
Tooke out of the Helmet of Alanson:
And your maiesty will beare me witnesses,

And testimonies, and auouchments,
That this is the gloue.
Soul. And it please your maiesty,
That was my gloue.
He that I gaue it to in the night,
Promised me to weare it in his hat:
I promised to strike him if he did.
I met that Gentleman with my gloue in's hat,
And I thinke I haue bene as good as my worde.
Flew. Your Maiesty heares,
Vnder your Maiestyes man-hoode,
What a beggerly lowsie knaue it is.
King. Let me see thy gloue.
Looke you, this is the fellow of it.
It was I indeede you promised to strike.
And thou hast giuen me most bitter words,
How canst thou make vs amends?
Flew. Let his necke answer it,
If there be any marshals law in the worell.
Soul. My Liege,
All offences come from the heart:
Neuer came any from mine
To offend your Maiesty.
You appeard to me but as a common man:
Witnesse the night, your garments,
Your lowlinesse; and whatsoeuer
You receiued vnder that habite,
I beseech your maiesty, impute it
To your owne fault, and not to mine.
For your selfe came not like your selfe:
Had you beene as you seemed then to mee,
I had made no offence, my gracious Lord,
Therefore I beseech your grace to pardon me.
Kin. Vnckle, fill the gloue with Crownes,
And giue it to the souldier.
Weare it fellow,

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

As an honour in thy cap, till I do challenge it.
Giue him the Crownes. Come Captaine Flewellen,
I must needs haue you friends.
Flew. By Iesus, the fellowe hath mettall enough in his belly.
Harke you souldier, There is a filling for you,
And keepe your selfe out of brawles,
And prabbles, and dissentions,
And looke you, it shall be the better for you.
Soul. Ile none of your money sir, not I.
Flew. Why tis a good filling man:
Why should you be queamish?
Your shooes are not so good.
It will serue you to mend your shooes.
Kin. What men of sort are taken vncklel?
Exe. Charles Duke of Orleance, Nephew to the King,
Iohn Duke of Burbon, and Lord Bouchquall.
Of other Lords and Barons, Knights and Squires,
Full fifteene hundred, besides common men.
This note doth tell me of ten thousand
French, that in the fielde lyes slaine.
Of Nobles bearing banners in the fielde,
Charles de le Brute, high Constanble of France,
Iaques of Chatillian, Admirall of France,
The master of the Crosse-bowes, Iohn Duke Alonson,
Lord Rambieres, high Master of France.
The braue sir Gwigzard, Dolphin. Of Nobelle Charillas,
Gran Prie and Rosse, Fawconbridge and Foy,
Gerard and Verton, Vandemant and Lestra.
King. Heeres was a royall fellowship of death,
Where is the number of our English dead?
Exe. Edward the Duke of Yorke, the Earle of Suffolke,
Sir Richard Ketly, Dauy Gam Esquire,
Aud of all the other, but fiue and twenty.
King. O God, thy arme was heere,
And vnto thee alone, ascribe we praise:

When

When without stratageme,
And euen in shocke of battell, was euer heard
So great and little losse, on one part and another?
Take it O God, for it is onely thine.
Exe. Tis wonderfull.
Kin. Come, let vs go on procession through the campe:
Let it be death proclaim'd to any man
To boast heereof, or take the praise from God,
Which is his due.
Flew. Is it lawfull, and it please your Maiesty,
To tell how many is kild?
Kin. Yes Flewellen,
But with this acknowledgement,
That God fought for vs.
Flew. Yes in my conscience, he did vs great good.
kin. Let there be sung Nououes and Te Deum,
The dead with charity enter'd in clay:
Weel then to Calice, and to England then,
Where nere from France, arriu'd more happier men.
Exit omnes.

Enter Gower and Flewellen.

Gower. But why do you weare your Leeke to day?
Saint Danies is past?
Flew. There is occasion Captaine Gower,
Looke you why, and wherefore:
The other day looke you, Pistolles
Which you know is a man of no merites
In the worell, is come where I was the other day,
And brings bread and salt, and biddes mee
Eate my Leeke: twas in a place, looke you,
Where I could mooue no dissentions,
But if I can see him, I shall tell him
A little of my desires.
Gow. Heere he comes swelling like a Turky-cocke.

Enter Pistoll.

Flewellen. Tis no matter for his swelling, and his turkicockes.
God plesse you Ancient Pistoll, you scall,
Beggerly, lowsy knaue, God plesse you.
Pist. Ha, art thou Bedlem?
Dost thou thurst base Troyan,
To haue me folde vp Parcas fatall web?
Hence, I am qualmish at the smell of Leeke.
Flew. Ancient Pistoll.
I would desire you because it doth not agree
With your stomackes, and your appetites,
And your digestions, to eate this Leeke.
Pist. Not for Cadwallader and all his Goats.
Flew. There is one Goate for you, ancient Pistol.
He strikes him.

Pist. Base Troyan, thou shalt dye.
Flewellen. I, I know I shall dye:
But in the meane time, I would desire you
To liue and eate this Leeke.
Gower. Enough Captaine,
You haue astonisht him, it is enough.
Flewel. Astonisht him,
By Iesu, Ile beate his head foure dayes
And foure nights too, but Ile make him
Eate some part of my Leeke.
Pist. Well must I bite?
Flew. I out of question, or doubt, or ambiguities,
You must bite.

He makes Ancient Pistoll bite of the Leeke.
Pistol. Good, good.

Flewel.

Flewellen. I Leekes are good, ancient Pistoll.
Looke you now, there is a filling for you
To heale your bloody coxcombe.
Pist. Me a shilling.
Flew. If you will not take it,
I haue another Leeke for you.
Pist. I take thy shilling in earnest of reckoning.
Flew. If I owe you any thing,
I will pay you in Cudgelles:
You shall be a Wood-monger,
And buy Cudgels. And so God be with you
Ancient Pistoll, God plesse you,
And heale your broken pate.
Ancient Pistoll, if you see Leekes another time,
Mocke at them, that is all: God bwy you.
Exit Flewellen.

Pist. All hell shall stirre for this.
Doth Fortune play the huswife with me now?
Is honour cudgeld from my warlike loynes?
Well France farewell, newes haue I certainly
That Doll is sicke. One malady of France
The warres affoordeth nought, home will I trug,
Baud will I turne, and vse the slight of hand:
To England will I steale,
And there Ile steale:
And patches will I get vnto these scarres,
And sweare I gat them in the Gallia warres.

Harry. Peace to this meeting,
Wherefore we are met,
And to our brother France, faire time of day.
Faire health vnto our louely couſin Katherine,
And as a branch, and member of this ſtocke,
We do ſalute you, Duke of Burgundy.
Fran. Brother of England,
Right ioyous are we to behold your face,
So are we Princes Engliſh euery one.
Duke. With pardon vnto your mightineſſe:
Let it not diſpleaſe you, if I demaund
What rub or barre hath thus farre hindred you
To keepe you from the gentle ſpeech of peace?
Har. If Duke of Burgundy you would haue peace,
You muſt buy that peace,
According as we haue drawne our Articles.
Fran. We haue but with a curſorary eye
Ore-view'd them; pleaſeth your Grace,
To let ſome of your Counſell ſit with vs,
We ſhall returne our peremptory anſwer.
Har. Go Lords, and ſit with them,
And bring vs anſwer backe.
yet leaue our couſen Katherine heere behind.
Fran. Withall our hearts.

Exit French King and the Lords.

Manet, king Henry, Katherine, and the Gentlewoman.

Har. Now Kate,
You haue a blunt wooer heere left with you.
If I could winne thee at Leape-frog,
Or with vauting with my armour on my backe
Into my ſaddle,
Without bragge be it ſpoken,
Ide make compare with any.

But leauing that Kate,
If thou takeſt me now,
Thou ſhalt haue me at the worſt,
And in wearing thou ſhalt haue me better and better,
Thou ſhalt haue a face that is not worth ſun-burning.
But doeſt thou thinke, that thou and I,
Betweene Saint Denis and Saint George,
Shall get a boy, that ſhall go to Conſtantinople,
And take the great Turke by the beard?
Ha, Kate.
Kate. Is it poſſible dat me ſall
Loue de enemy de France.
Harry. No Kate,
It is vnpoſſible you ſhould loue the enemy of France:
For Kate I loue France ſo well,
That Ile not leaue a village,
Ile haue it all mine. Then Kate,
When France is mine,
And I am yours:
Then France is yours,
And you are mine.
Kate. I cannot tell what is dat.
Harry. No Kate,
Why Ile tell you in French,
Which will hang vpon my tongue, like a bride
On her new married husband.
Let me ſee, Saint Dennis be my ſpeede.
Quan France & mon.
Kate. Dat is, when France is yours.
Harry. Et vous ettes amoy.
Kate. And I am to you.
Harry. Douck France ettes a vous.
Kate. Den France ſall be mine.
Harry. Et ie ſuyues a vous.
Kate. And you will be to me.
Har. Wilt beleeue me Kate? Tis eaſier for me

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

To conquer the kingdome,
Then to speake so much more French.
Kate. A your Maiesty
Has false France enough, to deceiue
De best Lady in France.
Harry. No faith Kate not I.
But Kate prethee tell me in plaine tearmes,
Dost thou loue me?
Kate. I cannot tell.
Harry. No: Can of any your Neighbours tel,
Ile aske them.
Come Kate, I know you loue me.
And soone when you are in your Closset,
Youle question this Lady of me:
But I pray thee sweet Kate, vse me mercifully,
Because I loue thee cruelly.
That I shall dye Kate, is sure:
But for thy loue by the Lord neuer.
What wench.
A straight backe will grow crooked,
A round eye will grow hollow,
A great legge will waxe small,
A curld pate proue bald:
But a good heart Kate is the Sun and the Moon,
And rather the Sun and not the Moone:
And therefore Kate take me,
Take a souldier, take a souldier,
Take a king:
Therefore tell me Kate, wilt thou haue mee?
Kate. Dat is as please de king my Father.
Harry. Nay it will please him,
Nay it shall please him Kate,
And vpon that condition Kate ile kisse thee.
Ka. O mon du ie ne voudroy faire queik chosse
Pour toute le monde,
Ce ne poynt votree fachion en fauor.

Harry. What sayes she Lady?
Lady. Dat it is not de fasion in France
For de maides, befor da be married to
May foy ie oblye, what is to bassie?
Har. To kisse, to kisse.
O that tis not the fashion in France
For the maids to kisse before they are married.
Lady. O wye see votree grace.
Har. Well, weel breake that custome:
Therefore Kate patience perforce and yeelde.
Before God Kate you haue witchcraft
In your kisses:
And may perswade with me more
Then all the French Councell.
Your father is returned.

Enter the Kings of France, and the Lordes.

How now my Lords?
Fran. Brother of England,
We haue ordered the Articles,
And haue agreed to all that we in sedule had.
Exe. Onely he hath not subscribed this,
Where your Maiesty demands,
That the King of France hauing any occasion
To write for matter of grant,
Shall name your Highnesse in this forme:
And with this addition in French,
Nostre tresher filz, Henry Roy d' Angleterre,
Eheare de France. And thus in Latine:
Preclarissimus filius noster Henricus Rex Angliæ,
Et heres Franciæ.
Fran. Nor this haue we so nicely stood vpon,
But you faire brother may intreat the same.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE Henry V (STC 22291) LONDON, 1608 THE BRITISH LIBRARY (C.34.k.14) Octavo

Harry. Why then let this among the reſt
Haue his full courſe: And withall,
Your daughter Katherine in marriage.
Fran. This and what elſe your Maieſty ſhall craue:
God that diſpoſeth all, giue you much ioy.
Har. Why then faire Katherine,
Come giue me thy hand:
Our matriage will we preſent ſolemnize,
And end our hatred by a bond of loue.
Then will I ſweare to Kate, and Kate to me,
And may our vowes once made, vnbroken be.

FINIS.
